Name_	Date Class Period
	y One line provided, write AV if the underlined verb in the sentence is in the active voice. Write PV if it is in the voice. Then, rewrite each sentence in the other voice, adding a subject of your own if necessary.
1.	As kittens, Spooky and several other cats were dumped nearby.
2.	The owner should not have left them to fend for themselves.
3.	They mostly stayed hungry until we found them.
4.	They were sick and skinny, and they were frightened by just about anything.
5.	We had been warned that they might be too skittish to come near us.
6.	Two of them were covered by thick black coats.
Activity Read tl	y Two nis excerpt from Lois Lowry's novel The Giver .
a Pilot- to make tone to stateme	Then all of the citizens had been ordered to go into the nearest building and stay there. IMMEDIATELY, the voice through the speakers had said. LEAVE YOUR BICYCLES WHERE THEY ARE Within minutes the speakers had crackled again, and the voice, reassuring now and less urgent, had explained that in-Training had misread his navigational instructions and made a wrong turn. Desperately the Pilot had been trying his way back before his error was notice. NEEDLESS TO SAY, HE WILL BE RELEASED, the voice had said, followed by silence. There was an ironic that finally message, as if the Speaker found it amusing; and Jonas had smiled a little, though he knew what a grim not it had been. For a contributing citizen to be released from the community was a final decision, a terrible ment, an overwhelming statement of failure.
1.	Highlight the sentence in the first paragraph that is written in passive voice.
	Is the subject of this sentence performing the action or being acted upon ?
	Who is the "actor" in this sentence?

Rewrite this sentence in active voice. The first sentence in the third paragraph contains one clause written in passive voice. Write that clause here. What is the verb in this clause? What is the subject in this clause? Who is performing the action in this clause? Although you can rewrite this clause in active voice without knowing who is performing the action, the resulting clause seems awkward. Why? Read the following sentences, also in passive voice, which appear in the early pages of the novel. Most of the people on the night crew had not even been given spouses It was written very clearly in the rules. [Y]our comfort object will be taken away. Why is it awkward to try to rewrite these sentences without knowing who is making the decisions, making the rules? How does Lowry's use of passive voice in these early pages create a sense of mystery and tension?	Do w	e know his or her name? Explain.
What is the verb in this clause? What is the subject in this clause? Who is performing the action in this clause? Although you can rewrite this clause in active voice without knowing who is performing the action, the resulting clause seems awkward. Why? Read the following sentences, also in passive voice, which appear in the early pages of the novel. Most of the people on the night crew had not even been given spouses It was written very clearly in the rules. [Y]our comfort object will be taken away. Why is it awkward to try to rewrite these sentences without knowing who is making the decisions, making the rules?	Rewr	ite this sentence in active voice.
What is the subject in this clause? Who is performing the action in this clause? Although you can rewrite this clause in active voice without knowing who is performing the action, the resulting clause seems awkward. Why? Read the following sentences, also in passive voice, which appear in the early pages of the novel. Most of the people on the night crew had not even been given spouses It was written very clearly in the rules. [Y] our comfort object will be taken away. Why is it awkward to try to rewrite these sentences without knowing who is making the decisions, making the rules?	The f	irst sentence in the third paragraph contains one clause written in passive voice. Write that clause here.
Although you can rewrite this clause in active voice without knowing who is performing the action, the resulting clause seems awkward. Why? Read the following sentences, also in passive voice, which appear in the early pages of the novel. Most of the people on the night crew had not even been given spouses It was written very clearly in the rules. [Y]our comfort object will be taken away. Why is it awkward to try to rewrite these sentences without knowing who is making the decisions, making the rules?	What	is the verb in this clause?
Although you can rewrite this clause in active voice without knowing who is performing the action, the resulting clause seems awkward. Why? Read the following sentences, also in passive voice, which appear in the early pages of the novel. Most of the people on the night crew had not even been given spouses It was written very clearly in the rules. [Y]our comfort object will be taken away. Why is it awkward to try to rewrite these sentences without knowing who is making the decisions, making the rules?	What	is the subject in this clause?
Read the following sentences, also in passive voice, which appear in the early pages of the novel. Most of the people on the night crew had not even been given spouses It was written very clearly in the rules. [Y]our comfort object will be taken away. Why is it awkward to try to rewrite these sentences without knowing who is making the decisions, making the rules?
Read the following sentences, also in passive voice, which appear in the early pages of the novel. *Most of the people on the night crew had not even been given spouses It was written very clearly in the rules. [Y]our comfort object will be taken away. Why is it awkward to try to rewrite these sentences without knowing who is making the decisions, making the rules?	Altho	ugh you can rewrite this clause in active voice without knowing who is performing the action, the resulting
Most of the people on the night crew had not even been given spouses It was written very clearly in the rules. [Y]our comfort object will be taken away. Why is it awkward to try to rewrite these sentences without knowing who is making the decisions, making the rules?	clause	e seems awkward. Why?
It was written very clearly in the rules. [Y]our comfort object will be taken away. Why is it awkward to try to rewrite these sentences without knowing who is making the decisions, making the rules?	Read	the following sentences, also in passive voice, which appear in the early pages of the novel.
[Y]our comfort object will be taken away. Why is it awkward to try to rewrite these sentences without knowing who is making the decisions, making the rules?
Why is it awkward to try to rewrite these sentences without knowing who is making the decisions, making the rules?
		is it awkward to try to rewrite these sentences without knowing who is making the decisions, making the rules
	How	